Indian Association of Teacher Educators

(Founded in 1950)

Registered under Society's Registration Act, 1860

Indian Association of Teacher Educators (IATE) is the only representative body of over 20,000 teacher educators and about 2000 teacher education institutions spread the length and breadth of the country. Right from the year of its establishment it has been striving hard to raise the standard of teacher education and improve the status of teacher education. Through successive years, during its 55 years of life span, it has very effectively voiced the shortcoming of teacher education programmes in India and placed them before the governments, commissions on education and other apex bodies dealing with education with a view to improve the scenario on teacher education front. The Teacher Education, an official journal of the IATE published regularly twice a year, presents researches and developments in the field of teacher education.

It, therefore, becomes the avowed duty of every member of IATE and all others interested in teacher education to subscribe the journal.
